

The Ubiquitous Mystery

From American Beauty, the movie

'I It's one of those days when it's a minute away from snowing
And there's this electricity in the air... and you can almost hear it. And this bag was just dancing with me...
like a little kid begging me to play with it... for fifteen minutes.

That's the day I realized there's this entire life behind things.
And this incredibly benevolent force that wanted me to know There's no reason to be afraid... ever...

Video is a poor excuse, I know, but it helps me to remember. I need to remember.
Sometimes there's so much Beauty in the world, I feel like I can't take it. And my heart is just going to cave in."

From A River Runs Through It, the movie

"Now, nearly all those I love and did not understand in my youth are dead. But I still reach out to them.
Of course, now, I'm too old to be much of a fisherman. And, now, I usually fish the big waters alone,
Although some of my friends think I shouldn't.

But when I'm alone in the half-light of the canyon,
All existence seems to fade to a being with my soul and memories. And the sounds of the Big Blackfoot River and the four count rhythm... And the hope that a fish will rise.

Eventually, all things merge into one, and the river runs through it. The river was cut by the world's great flood, And over the rocks from the basement of time.
On some of the rocks are timeless raindrops
Under the rocks are the words... and some of the words are theirs.
I am haunted by waters."