Gift/Cash Handling Procedures

PURPOSE

For purposes of deposit and recording, the gifts received by Donor and Alumni Records (DAR) must be separated according to the entity that will deposit the gift(s) as well as by currency type.

OVERVIEW

This document describes the separation and handling of gifts by check or cash.

REQUIREMENTS

Advance gift entry training

Rules

All gifts are processed in the Cash Room beginning at 8:30 a.m. every morning. It is required for two people to remain in the Cash Room at all times while processing gifts.

HOW-TOS

Begin by opening all envelopes with the electronic letter opener. Each gift that is received must be stamped with the date/time machine. When stamping the gift, place the stamp within the blank area so it does not interfere with information on the Gift Transmittal Form (GTF)/document. Retain all of the empty envelopes for shredding. The only time envelopes will be retained is after the Christmas break.

Take note of the following while making a DB batch:

- University of Houston Foundation (UHF), University of Houston-Clear Lake (UHCL), University of Houston-Downtown (UHD), University of Houston-Victoria (UHV), or University of Houston (UH) Law Foundation, gifts will be mailed/delivered to the organization for deposit.
- Verify that the gift has an allocation. If the gift also requires an appeal code, display it on the gift documentation. Note: Not all gifts will have an appeal code.
 - Without an allocation and/or appeal code, the gift cannot be processed until information is provided from the appropriate college/department.
 - Notify the appropriate college/department that the allocation and/or appeal code is missing. If the donor has previously donated to the University, review that donor's giving summary in Advance in order to possibly determine this information.
 - Note: If a copy of the gift has been sent via e-mail and the information being sent has the checking account and bank routing number or credit card number included, this information must be covered up using a black marker or when copying the gift, prevent this information from being visible.
- While reviewing the allocations, if the allocation starts with an "HE" or simply says "endowment" DAR does not process these endowments since they are processed by Treasury. Endowments are copied with cost center information and sent to Treasury.

- Matching Gifts

Note: Do not write on anything that comes in from a company or a donor with matching gift forms. If documentation of the matching gift is necessary, make a copy and write on the copy.

If a gift is a matching gift, take the following steps:

1. Determine if the gift is from a company (e.g., Exxon, Shell, AIG, etc.).
2. Determine if the check memo acknowledges the DAR matching gift processor.
3. Review the check as it may indicate that there is a matching gift.
4. To clarify if the gift is matching, ask the DAR matching gift processor.
5. When it is verified that a gift is a matching gift, make one copy of the check.
6. Place the backup documentation and any other matching gift information with a copy of the check, paper-clip it together, and place it in a separate pile. This information will be given to the DAR matching gift processor once the batch is complete.
7. Place the original check in the safe in a filing folder for the DAR matching gift processor.
8. If only the Matching Gift Form is received, give it to the appropriate person.
9. If a gift has an attached Matching Gift Form, process the gift first and place a red dot on the gift documentation. After the gift is processed, the gift documentation is given to the DAR matching gift processor.

- If the gift documentation/GTF is a payroll deduction, collect the forms and give to the appropriate person to process.
- Credit card batches are referred to as “C” batches. These are also collected separately and processed by the DAR credit card processor.

Note: If the gift(s) are not a payroll deduction or credit card, proceed with creating a DB batch.

There are two types of DB batches; checks and cash. The two cannot be combined, so there must be two separate batches. Make a pile for each if needed.

Check Batches

If the batch consists of checks, complete the following steps:

1. Make a copy of the check(s) then paper clip the copy and the gift documentation together.
2. Place the check in a pile.
3. This process will continue until all envelopes have been opened and all checks have are copied.
4. Take the pile of checks and stamp the back of the checks with the Bank of America stamp.
