

“The First Representations of Brazil on World Maps”

A talk by Alida Metcalf, Harris Masterson, Jr.
Professor of History, Rice University

Thursday, Nov. 10, AH 520, 2:30

Modern maps did not spring into being full blown. Maps have histories that helps explain modern images and representations of countries. The history of the first representations of Brazil is the subject of this talk.

Sponsors include the Latin American Studies Program, the Center for the Americas, and the History Department