

Adolfo Santos, PhD

Adolfo Santos, PhD is the chair of the department of social sciences at the University of Houston–Downtown and an associate professor of political science. He received his PhD in political science from the University of Houston in 1998, and has taught at UH–Downtown since 1997. Dr. Santos conducts research in the areas of Hispanic representation, post-congressional lobbying, and education policy.