

Sandy Reyes is a military veteran who served in Iraq in 2004-2005. He also served as a Combat Life Saver and Telecommunications Analyst and completed his service with the TX Army National Guard while attending the University of Houston-Downtown. Reyes worked as a Civic Houston intern in the office of Council Member Ron Green and graduated with honors in 2009. Reyes has worked as the Emergency Operations Center Manager under Judge Ed Emmet at the Harris County Office of Homeland Security and is a founder of the Saint Barnabas Project in Houston. His volunteer work also includes board positions with the Lone Star Veterans Association and the American GI Forum. Recently, Reyes was the Project Lead in charge of the implementation of the Emergency Telehealth and Navigation Project. The creator of the Lone S.T.A.R (a modified cost efficient drone that can aid Search and Rescue teams), Reyes is now pursuing his MBA in IT Management.
