Learn How to Resolve Conflict

There are three sides to every conflict: your side, the other person's side, and the truth. If you are having conflicts at work, mediation can help you to communicate, examine what has gone wrong and identify the issues. Mediation is focused on bringing people together to find a mutually agreeable way ahead. Mediation can be used at any stage of a conflict and can help rebuild and restore relationships.

About the Basic Mediation Training

The 40-hour Basic Mediation Training program is taught by a faculty of distinguished and experienced mediators. Participants learn mediation skills through the highly interactive use of lectures, discussions, role play and individual videotape sessions. The program satisfies the Texas statutory training requirements for mediators. Each participant who completes the course will receive a certificate of completion from the A.A. White Dispute Resolution Center at the University of Houston Law Center. To register, go to law.uh.edu/blakely/aawhite/ or call Judy Clark at 713.743.2066.
