FACULTY VACANCIES – School of Social Work

Beginning fall 2011, Morgan State University seeks to fill a faculty vacancy at the Assistant, Associate, or full professor rank. We seek candidates who have a strong desire to contribute to a growing social work program at one of the nation's largest Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU). The program offers the BSW, MSW, and the Ph.D degrees and currently has approximately 400 students. Both the BSW and MSW Programs are fully accredited by CSWE. Each of the programs focuses on urban issues within a social justice framework.

Founded in 1867, and located in Baltimore, Maryland, Morgan State University is one of the nation's oldest HBCU's. Morgan's mission is to serve a multiethnic and multiracial student body and to help ensure that the benefits of higher education are enjoyed by a broad segment of the population. The university is designated as Maryland's public urban university and offers a comprehensive range of academic programs including twenty-five master's degree and fourteen doctoral programs, e.g. master's and doctorate in public health, masters in nursing, doctorate in psychometrics.

Candidates must have a doctorate in social work or in a related field and a master's degree in social work. An extensive record of scholarly productivity, research funding, and teaching in social work are expected for applicants at the senior level. Teaching experience in Research/Statistics, HBSE, health, substance abuse, micro or macro practice, and policy highly recommended. Candidates at the Assistant Professor level must also have a doctorate in social work or a related field, and the MSW. Evidence of teaching and scholarly potential expected.

The Faculty Search Committee will begin reviewing applications and nominations immediately and will continue until positions are filled. Applicant should send a letter of application, a complete curriculum vitae, and names of three references with contact information to: Electronic submission preferred.
