Charlie Matthew Wins NACA Markley Award

Charlie Matthew (Technical Director for Cullen performance Hall) was honored at the most recent National Association for Campus Activities (NACA) Regional Conference for the Central Region [which stretches from Colorado and New Mexico east of the 107th longitude (roughly the Rocky Mountains), Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana] with the prestigious Larry Markley Award. The name sake of the award, Larry Markley, was a former Night Manager and Activities Advisor for the University Center here at UH and now serves as the Director of the Brown-Lupton Student Center at Texas Christian University. For reference, the below information describes the award in detail.

NACA Central Awards – The Larry Markley Award

This award will be presented to an individual who has a minimum of three years of full-time professional employment in the field of student development, student activities or the entertainment industry. The recipient will have demonstrated a strong involvement in and contribution to NACA Central; has continued potential in the field of student activities; involvement and contribution in the field of student activities and/or the entertainment industry; has been involved in other regional or national organizations; and is regarded as a positive role model for students, professional staff and associates. More than one award per year may be given, based on the number of nominees meeting the criteria.
