Ways to Celebrate National Student Employment Week

National Student Employment Week strives to recognize the valuable contributions that University of Houston student employees make to our campus community. Student employees gain transferable experience in on and off-campus positions that contribute to them being Career Ready Coogs.

University Career Services would like to encourage you to plan activities within your department to recognize your student employees’ contributions that may include:

- Host your own recognition ceremony, provide light refreshments and award students in areas such as best customer service, most collaborative, most creative thinker, most cheerful, outstanding organizer, etc.
- Grab lunch at Moody on a $5 Friday, host a pizza party or bring in desert!
- Share student spotlights with University Career Services and on social media to recognize their contributions and highlight their career goals.
- Write notes of appreciation and thanks to students.
- Create a photo collage and add thank you notes from full-time staff.

Please, take the time to plan how you will show your student employees that you appreciate them during National Student Employment Week in April.
