Hello Coogs! As finals are wrapping up and the spring semester is coming to a close, it is a great time to start applying to internships for the summer and fall. Internships are a great way to gain practical experience in a professional setting before, or after, you graduate. If you are unsure how to go about finding an internship or are confused about what types of skills you would like to develop, set an appointment with a career counselor. University Career Services is open all summer to help you during your career development process. Whether you are a freshman just finishing up your first semester or are a senior graduating in May, it is never too early or too late to begin planning for your future career. What better way to explore opportunities while boosting your resume than to obtain a summer internship. In this newsletter, you can find a variety of internships targeting a wide range of majors. Check out Job Bank at www.uh.edu/ucs for even more internship opportunities.
