FERPA: Authorization to Release Educational Records Form (OGC-SF-2006-02)

The Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, commonly known as FERPA, is a federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. Students have specific, protected rights regarding the release of such records and FERPA requires that institutions adhere strictly to these guidelines.

Education records may include but are not limited to:

- Grades
- Grade points
- Listing of students' names along with grades
- All papers or lab reports containing student names and grades
- Letters of recommendation
- Photos of individual students
- Identifiable information attached to a student
- Student image, voice, performance, artwork or likeness

Written consent must be given by the student PRIOR to the release or distribution of their education records.

Copyright Use Permission and Non-Exclusive License Agreement

<https://uh.edu/architecture/about/faculty-and-staff-information/>

This form covers the period of an Academic Year and should be presented to the students at the beginning of the Fall Semester. The form that covers copyright issues as well as the retaining of students' work by the CoAD.

At various times during or after expiration of the SCHOOL YEAR, one or more official representatives or employees of UH may select certain WORKS to display, use, publish, or recreate, in original or modified form, all of or portions of such WORKS, for academic teaching purposes and/or non-academic purposes such as but not limited to commercial and non-commercial purposes, public display or broadcast, advertising, promotion of UH, contests, creation of textbooks, creation of derivative works, videos, podcasts, and other purposes potentially beneficial or gainful for UH, (collectively, USE).

The signed form should suffice to meet the CoAD's needs for using any student-created pieces, for whatever purpose one desires, including providing one with a limited right of possession and control of the same, so long as the CoAD desires. The only thing it does not convey is ownership (copyright ownership or property ownership) in the piece. However, it provides that the CoAD can keep and use the selected pieces, for whatever purpose, without cost, so long as the CoAD desires to maintain such possession and control, provided the CoAD returns it to the student when no longer needed.

The student retains actual copyright and property ownership of the item, so in actuality they can also leverage their rights in the item in parallel with the CoAD's exercise of the same, provided it doesn't interfere with or deprive the CoAD / faculty of possession and control of the item during the CoAD's desired term for such possession and control. In other words, they could still publish about it, etc. If they have a need for temporary possession to accomplish the same, they will need to contact the CoAD to arrange for their temporary, parallel use of the item, so long as it doesn't interfere with the CoAD's priority use and control, and returning it back to CoAD's possession and control when they're finished with it, until such time as the CoAD permanently returns it back to them.

In other words, UH/CoAD and the student will each enjoy the copyright in parallel, but UH/CoAD will have the priority right of possession and control of the item. But the CoAD will not have the right to prevent the student from publishing, creating derivative works, etc., about the item, since they are the actual copyright and property right owners of the item.
