

Upcoming Events

AAS Week

The Department of African American Studies Presents

African American Studies Week

February

27

Author Spotlight: Lindsay Gary

Dr. Lindsay Gary, author of "The New Red Book," will hold a book signing in the Evans Instruction Room (in Special Collections) at 5:30 pm. Refreshments will be provided, and the first 20 people to arrive will receive free books.

February

28

Open-Class: Black Women in Contemporary U.S. Society

Chair of the Department of African American Studies, Dr. Tara Green will be having a public class on Black Women and Respectability at 11:30 am. Contact her for the location.

Black History Game Night

Join us for a game night with prizes! We will be playing card games, trivia, and family feud at 5:30pm-7:30pm in Room 210 at Agnes Arnold.

March

01

Emerging Artist Spotlight: Lacey Stewart

Young artist and student leader Lacey Stewart will be showcasing her beautiful art right in the African American Studies conference room in Agnes Arnold at 12:00pm.

March

02

Open Mic Night

Join us for our first open mic night at 5:30pm. Students will showcase their various talents, including spoken word, singing, and more. Sign up to learn more. Location TBA.

March

03

Black Women Heal: Music as a Tool for Healing & Resisting Respectability Politics

We'll be listening to and discussing artists like Lizzo, Queen Latifah, and Megan Thee Stallion as we explore how Black Women have, and continue to, use all genres of music as a tool for healing and resisting respectability politics. Location TBD.

For more information contact us at aas@uh.edu or 713-743-2811. Please visit us at www.uh.edu/class/aas

African American Studies
College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences