

The Center for Mexican American Studies Presents:

Not Just a Class... But a Transformative Experience

SPRING 2015 SEMESTER

THE MEXICAN AMERICAN URBAN COMMUNITY

MAS 3340: SECTION NUMBER 12563

WEDNESDAYS: 1:00-4:00 P M

SOCIAL WORK BUILDING, 423

INSTRUCTOR: LORENZO CANO

Much of the future of America's cities will be influenced by the growing number of Mexican American and Latino barrios from Los Angeles to New York City. This course is designed to familiarize students with the urbanization of these communities as they evolved throughout the 20th century up to the present. A tour of several of these barrios will be incorporated into the course and will serve as living laboratories. Films, speakers, and small group discussions will be integrated into the course as the class discovers the future of our metropolitan communities. (Qualifies for the UH Humanities Requirement)

For More information: lcano@uh.edu

