A. Application (submit three full copies)

To facilitate review and to ensure comparability of evaluation, applications must include:

1. Cover sheet (Request for Leave of Absence form): This is the same form required by the Provost's Office for any leave of absence. It must be signed by the faculty member, department chair or director, college dean, and (after approval at the college level) the senior vice president for academic affairs. (Note: only your department chair's signature is required for submission to the Dean's Office.)
2. Project statement: Two-page, typed, double-spaced description of project for which the leave is requested (specifically addressing the project's scope, where it will be done, its relevance to the applicant's responsibilities at the University of Houston, and any other information relevant for review).
3. A statement (if applicable) from the host institution, library, etc., where the development activity will take place, indicating that institution's support for the project.
4. Description of any grant or other assistance awarded or applied for during the period for which leave is requested.
5. An up-to-date copy of your curriculum vitae.

6. Previous FDL recipients should provide the date of that leave and state its results.

B. Letter from Chair/Director:

The chair or director of the unit must write a full evaluation of the proposal, commenting on its importance, the feasibility of the project, the effect of the project on the applicant's career and/or the department, and (necessarily and in detail) the applicant's record in teaching and service.

Criteria for Selection:

1. Prerequisites: performance in teaching and service consonant with university expectations in regard to rank.
2. The significance of the contribution of the proposed project to the applicant's field, to the academic area generally, and to the University of Houston.
3. The merit and quality of the project itself as demonstrated by the manner in which it is conceived, defined, organized, and described in the application.
4. The likelihood that the applicant will complete the project or the phase of the project in the time frame proposed.
5. The quality of the applicant's scholarly or creative record as demonstrated by the current academic curriculum vitae.

Selection Process and Procedures:

Faculty Development Leave awards will be made by the Dean of the College with such consultation as the Dean finds helpful. The instructional and institutional needs of the departments and the college will be considered in the decision-making process. The applications approved by the Dean will be forwarded to the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs for final approval. Once that approval has been given, public announcement of the awards will be made.

Terms and Conditions of Awards:

1. All applications must conform to the college format specified above and carry on the cover sheet the signature of the chair/director.
2. Acceptance of a development leave award constitutes the applicant's agreement to:
 - (a) abide by the stated terms and conditions of the award, and,
 - (b) continue service at the University for one academic year after completion of the leave.
3. While FDL recipients are encouraged to seek external support for travel and research, no one on Faculty Development Leave may accept employment from any other person, corporation, institution, or government, unless approved by the President.
4. An award recipient who wishes to make substantial changes in the development project originally proposed (e.g., a significant change in the topic or focus of the project, the location of the leave activity, change in collaborators) must first notify, and receive written approval of, the Dean of the College.

5. An award recipient who wishes to change the date of the leave originally proposed must notify and receive written approval from the Dean of the College and the Provost.
