

INSTRUCTIONAL ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF SPANISH.

The Department of Hispanic Studies at the University of Houston invites applications for a one-year position (renewable) as Instructional Assistant Professor for the Spanish Program. We encourage applications from candidates with a PhD in Spanish. Candidates with ability to teach Portuguese, Spanish for Heritage Speakers, and/or expertise with Study Abroad programs are especially encouraged to apply. Undergraduate students at the University of Houston are diverse, many of them part-time students who demand a dynamic and engaging instructor. Hispanic Studies has a robust Basic Spanish program which enrolls about 900 students per semester, and also offers a special track for Heritage Speakers. Appointment begins August 2012 with a teaching load of 4/4/2 (Fall/Spring/Summer). For full consideration, send letter of application, statement of Teaching Philosophy, vita, samples of teaching evaluations –if available–, and three letters of recommendation by May 10th to Search Committee, Department of Hispanic Studies, 416 Agnes Arnold Hall, Houston, TX 77204-3062.

The University of Houston is an equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.
