UH CONTINUITY OF OPERATIONS PLANNING PROGRAM

Houston, May 4, 2021 – The continuity of operations planning program is already in full swing for the 2021 review cycle. The Continuity of Operations Planning Program requirements began with a presentation to the Continuity of Operations Planning Liaisons. The University of Houston has been recognized by the State Office of Emergency Management for their proactive approach to continuity planning. Part of that proactive approach includes department, colleges and division assessing and updated their continuity plans annually.

The University of Houston and all its departments, colleges and divisions are using their COOP's right now as we work and learn remotely during the COVID-19 pandemic. The lessons learned from this experience should be included in your 2021 Continuity of Operations Plans. Planning is key and the challenges and solutions to those challenges will only enhance our plans for the future.
