

• • • 2013 • • •

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT BOOT CAMP

HOBBY CENTER
FOR PUBLIC POLICY

Learn more at www.uh.edu/hcpp.

UNIVERSITY of HOUSTON
HOBBY CENTER FOR PUBLIC POLICY

What

Develop leadership and community engagement skills by participating in the Hobby Center for Public Policy's Civic Engagement Boot Camp (CEBC). CEBC is a series of one day interactive sessions designed to teach the skills necessary to create positive change. Each workshop will develop and enhance the abilities required to lead effectively within any environment.

The October 2013 session focuses on self-discovery, interpersonal skills, and leadership. Former Houston City Council Member Ada Edwards will lead the one day workshop with discussions and group exercises. CEBC is not for the faint of heart. Participants must be ready to think critically, engage actively, and commit to making a difference.

When

Friday, October 18, 2013

10 am—4 pm

Lunch provided.

Where

317 McElhinney Hall

How

Admission is free, but is limited to 20 participants. You must pre-register to attend. Register by sending an email to Isaiah Warner at inwarner@central.uh.edu with CEBC in the subject line, and provide your name, phone number, and email address.