September 2025

Welcome and welcome back! For those of you we haven't met, we are two graduate students in the creative writing program at UH who collaborate with the Tillman J. Fertitta Family College of Medicine through a program called Scripts. As specialists in Narrative & Lyric Health, we are looking forward to helping you get the most out of your learning milestones in the 2025-2026 academic year. Whether you are beginning your journey from the foundations of medicine or thinking about your applications for residency, we are here to help you find the right words to process each experience.

Have a question about a reflective writing assignment? Need a second set of eyes on your personal statement for residency? Interested in an outlet for sharing your stories and experiences in the healthcare community? As Scripts fellows, we are here to help you with all that and more! You might see us around the college of medicine, assisting your professors with supplemental activities focused on Narrative & Lyric Health, but you can also find us during our office hours. Just follow the link in the Scripts Fellows calendar (attached) to schedule a virtual appointment.

Though we know this time of year can be hectic, we want to put one important thing on your radar for the Fall of 2025. Every two years, the Scripts program puts together a folio of student and community writing, to highlight the narrative health work being done both inside and outside of the classroom. The next issue will be released late Spring 2026, and we currently have an open call for submissions. If you have a story, short essay, poem, or mixed genre piece of writing that you would like to have published in the folio, please send it to us at scriptsfellows@gmail.com. Feeling hesitant about sending in your piece of writing? We are also more than happy to work with you one on one to provide feedback and developmental edits. Just drop us a line or schedule an office hours appointment!

Wishing you the best with the start of the academic year,

Bevin O'Connor and Nick Templeton
