A wide-angle photograph of a bustling university atrium. The space is characterized by its modern design, featuring a large, multi-level wooden staircase that serves as a central gathering point. Numerous students are seen sitting on the steps, some using laptops, while others are walking through the atrium. The upper levels are enclosed by glass railings, and the walls are adorned with large, colorful murals and text. A prominent quote, "We serve those who serve our students," is overlaid in a large, white, serif font across the upper portion of the image. The overall atmosphere is one of a vibrant, active learning environment.

"We serve those who serve our students"
