JOB OPPORTUNITY POSTING

Job Title: Assistant Professor

Employer/Agency: Bloomsburg University

Job Description: Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania invites applications for a permanent tenure-track position beginning August 2013, AA# 45-2-111. Responsibilities include teaching Social Work Senior Seminar and Social Welfare Policy courses, performing senior field education duties (e.g., working closely with students who are in field internships or are seeking field internships), acting as field director, and advising students. Instructional delivery can occur through on-line, traditional, and alternative instructional methods and can occur on main campus or off-site educational locations. Voluntary summer contracts may be available. In addition to teaching responsibilities, scholarship and service to the university community are also required. This position requires competence in the instruction of generalist practice courses and dynamic teaching. Preferred applicants will have experience in field education and/or as field director. The program has received reaffirmation from CSWE through the year 2016.

Qualifications: A master's degree in Social Work with at least 2 years of post-MSW practice experience and a doctorate in Social Work or a field related to Social Work are required. Candidates with ABD status may apply, but the doctorate must be completed before August 24, 2013. University teaching experience from a generalist social work perspective is required. Demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations is preferred. Finalist(s) for this position must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process, including a teaching demonstration. Recommendation for hiring is needed by the majority of the regular, full-time department faculty. Completing this search is contingent upon available funding. Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit a background check including but not limited to: employment verification, educational and other credential verification, and criminal background check.
