

Visiting Professor of Social Work, CAS/Esperanza

Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a Visiting Professor of Social Work position to begin in July 2014.

The position is in the CSWE-accredited BSW program located in the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS). The BSW program has expanded to the site of Esperanza College of Eastern University that serves Hispanic and local communities in Philadelphia. The successful candidate will be able to teach a variety of required courses primarily at the Esperanza College site in social work practice, social welfare policy, and/or research sequences of the curriculum.

Requirements include an M.S.W. degree, a minimum of two years post-M.S.W. practice experience, with a doctorate in social work. M.S.W. practitioners and/or educators actively pursuing a doctoral degree in social work will be considered.

Review of applications will begin immediately. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter to include a brief statement of their faith, curriculum vitae, unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu.

All positions remain open until filled.
