ASSISTANT PROFESSOR POSITION IN SOCIAL WORK

The University of Iowa, School of Social Work seeks a tenure-track assistant professor (9-month academic year appointment) to teach, conduct research, and engage in service. The School of Social Work offers programs at the B.A., M.S.W., and Ph.D. levels, with faculty scholarship foci in the following areas: aging, child welfare, mental health, and culturally competent social work practice. The University of Iowa is a Research I institution that offers generous supports for junior faculty in developing their program of research. The School is home to the National Resource Center on Family Centered Practice (NRCFCP), which promotes family-centered, community-based, culturally competent practice within organizations and across systems through research and evaluation, training and technical assistance, and information dissemination. For more information on the School's many resources and programs, see our homepage at <http://www.uiowa.edu/~socialwk>. (Requisition # 60004).

Required qualifications:

- Master of Social Work degree.
- Ph.D. degree in social work or related field.
- A minimum of two years post-graduate level micro or macro-level practice experience.
- Demonstrated ability to conduct research and publish in a substantive area of social work.
- Demonstrated teaching effectiveness.
- Demonstrated commitment to integrating human diversity and cultural competence in teaching, research or service.

Desired qualifications:

- Ability to teach in one or more areas at either the foundation or advance level: practice, diversity or research.
- A program of research that complements one or more of the School's areas of scholarship mentioned above.

The School of Social Work and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences are strongly committed to gender and ethnic diversity; the strategic plans of the University, College, and School reflect this commitment. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University of Iowa is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Salary is competitive, with generous equipment and research start-up funds.

Applicants are strongly encouraged to submit their materials immediately. Submit applications online at <http://jobs.uiowa.edu/>. Refer to requisition number # 60004. Do not mail paper applications. A curriculum vitae and letter of application describing your research and teaching interests must be attached to the online application. In addition to the online application and attachments, submit in writing to the Chair of the Search Committee the following: a writing sample representing your scholarly ability; three letters of professional reference which address both scholarly and teaching potential and other accomplishments. For inquiries about the position please contact the Search Committee Chair listed below:
