

The background of the entire poster is a collage of four photographs, all tinted in a deep red color. The top-left photo shows a student in a patterned shirt and a black face mask standing behind a table, looking down at a document. The top-right photo is a close-up of a smiling female student with glasses, wearing a white shirt and a dark blazer, with her hand raised in a gesture. The bottom-left photo shows a busy scene at a career fair with many students walking through aisles lined with informational booths. The bottom-right photo shows two students, a male and a female, both smiling and making peace signs with their hands. The main title is overlaid on the top-center of the collage.
